

School of Education 2021 Webinar Series:

Celebrating Social Justice Research in Education

Collaborative Schooling for Change : 3 February 2021, from 1200-1330 GMT

Join us for the second of five exciting events that focus on key issues in educational research. Presentations within this webinar will highlight research with policymakers and practitioners, aimed at enabling all children to achieve their full potential, irrespective of background. It considers work of the following projects and investigators.

The Network for Social and Educational Equity (NSEE) builds research and development collaborations with schools and their partners to close the poverty-related achievement gap, and will give an overview of a range of its projects. (Presenters: Professor Chris Chapman and Dr Jo Neary)

The CAMAU project has been a collaboration between the University of Glasgow and the University of Wales Trinity Saint David (UWTSD), funded by the Welsh Government and the UWTSD, and was designed to support the Welsh education system in this task. The focus of the CAMAU project has been progression. (Presenters: Professor Louise Hayward and Dr Kara Makara Fuller).

Developing pedagogies that work for Pre-Service and Early Career Teachers was part of a Scottish Council of Deans of Education project related to the Scottish Attainment Challenge. It analysed research and practice that sought to reduce the Attainment Gap in Literacy, Numeracy and Health and Wellbeing. (Presenter: Professor Moyra Boland)

There will follow a panel response, and all those who join the webinar will be able to pose questions to the speakers and panel. Everyone is welcome to join us, and to register please go to the following site:

<https://www.eventbrite.co.uk/e/collaborative-schooling-for-change-tickets-132828396309>

Full details and instructions for joining will be circulated post registration. We look forward to your participation.